AREDN

For the last few months, a few of us here and on the Island have been experimenting with computer networks over ham radio frequencies using AREDN. It's still very early days for us, but I created a section about AREDN with useful links to get started.

